FIVE BEST MEMORY BOOSTING FOODS

#5 Avocados

This healthy monounsaturated fat increases blood flow to the brain. That means more oxygen getting to those parts of your brain that help you to think and to remember details.

#4 Apples

Apples could have dementia-fighting qualities. Vitamin C is a known factor in the reduction of Alzheimer's.

#3 Dark Chocolate

Dark chocolate reduces inflammation and may help prevent oxidation in the brain, which is the precursor to many neurological diseases.

#2 Green Tea

EGCG protects the brain. It lowers the amount of protein that builds up as plaque linked to memory loss and nerve damage.

#1 Blueberries

Nutrients packed in these berries help reverse age-related problems in the area of brain function, improve learning, motor skills, and vision.

"Best news I have had all year," one said on Facebook, as Reuters reported. Another placed a bottle of milk on Thatcher's doorstep in the wealthy London neighborhood of Belgravia, a nod to her policy of scrapping free milk for elementary school children in the '70s. That move earned her the nickname "Thatcher the milk snatcher."

What's YOUR Health Worth?
$3 a Day?
No?
We can "eat better", but the sad fact is, even the healthiest, most "organic" and "greenest of the green" food choices are nutrient deficient and not giving us what our body needs. Most vegetables and... See More — with Zella Turner.
